GEN. PERSHING RETIRED WITH NATION'S LOVE

General of Armies Honored by President in Executive Order

By Associated Press Leased Wire Washington, Sept. 13.—John J. Pershing ended his 42 years of active service in the army at noon today with a last signal honor paid him in the issuance of an executive announcement by President Coolidge expressing the nation's indebtedness to the service which won him leadership of the American forces in the World War.

Only in the rare instances of history in which a retiring officer has reached the highest rank has there been precedent for the honor conferred upon General Pershing in the executive order in which the President today extended to him "anew the thanks of the nation for his imminent services."

The President added that he felt "certain that I voice the sentiment of the entire citizenry of the republic in wishing him long life, happiness and prosperity in the retirement he has so richly earned."

Citing General Pershing's arrival today at the automatic retirement age of 45 years, the executive order, after reminding the country of its obligation to one whose accomplishments contributed solarely to the defense of the world's liberty, reviewed his long career of military service.

Text of Executive Order.

The text of the order which will be read to the army today as a general order, follows:

"General John J. Pershing, General of the Armies, having this day reached the age of 64 years, is retired from active service in conformity with a requirement of an act of congress approved June 29, 1882.

In announcing the termination of this distinguished soldier's active military career, it is deemed appropriate to remind the country of his eminent services and of the nation's obligation to one whose accomplishments contributed so largely to the defense of the world's liberties.

"Entering the army as a commanding officer after graduation at the U. S. Military Academy in 1886, he endured the hardships of the Indian campaigns, then necessary for the pacification of the western frontier. In the war with Spain, he participated in the Santiago campaign in Cuba, in the Philippine Islands, after their acquisition by the United States. It fell to his lot to assist in the suppression of the native insurrection, and his remarkable success in bringing under control some of the most turbulent tribes is a matter of history.

Hills Mexican Campaign.

"Becoming a general in 1906, he was entrusted with many important commands and when the unsettled conditions on the border of Mexico in 1916 made it necessary to send a military expedition into that country, he was selected for its command. In exercising this command as well as in the others that had fallen to him, he demonstrated his capacity for the highest military functions and his selection as the commander of the American Expeditionary Forces in the World War was a natural consequence.

"His conduct of that command fully justified the selection as well as his elevation to the highest rank in our military service, which was conferred upon him permanently, under authority of a special act of congress, in recognition of his fulfillment of his country's expectations. The American troops under his command, by their presence, high qualities and skillful management, assisted materially in the defeat of the central powers of Europe which resulted in the freedom of civilization from autocratic rule.

Had Largest U. S. Army.

"He is one of the few officers who have held the rank of general in the permanent military establishment, and the one who has exercised supreme command of much of the largest body of troops ever called into action by the United States Government. His services to the world in the greatest conflict in which military forces have ever been engaged, have been recognized through the award of the highest decorations by the governing authorities of Belgium, Great Britain, China, Czechoslovakia, France, Greece, Italy, Japan, Montenegro and Serbia.

"In his position as Chief of Staff since the termination of the world conflict, he has been a mainstay to the executive in preparing an army of modest dimensions to be the nucleus of any military force the country may be obliged to place in field. He has taken a leading part in the development of the citizen components of the army of the United States.

Voices Nation's Thanks.

Bitter Trench Battle Fought on North Side Early Friday Morning

Preparedness, the keynote of Defense Day, was especially emphasized to workers of the Dixon Water Co. Friday morning, when they suddenly and unexpectedly found themselves in bitter trench fighting on West Water street, where they were putting in new mains.

At a depth of about seven feet they uncovered the hole of a Mephitis, Mephitis, who tellingly resented the intrusion.

Caught in the deep trench, without gas masks, the employees rallied gamely after their first surprise, charged their foe and finally annihilated him.

The Battle of Skunk Run was over.

"GO TO WORK" NEW COMMAND TO TWO BOYS

Days of East Ended in State Prison Furniture Shop Today.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Joliet, Ill., Sept. 13.—Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, slayers of Bobby Franks, began a life of work this morning after attending a movie at the state prison here.

The youthful slayers were up at 6 o'clock, ate their breakfast with the rest of the prisoners and after early preliminaries, were taken to the chapel where they saw Rudolph Valente in his latest release.

Both boys were grateful for the relief from the constant strain of new adjustments and watched the movie intently.

Immediately after the show Leopold and Loeb were taken to the furniture shop where Leopold was shown the rudiments of weaving and winding rattan into furniture. Loeb was taken to the cabinet shop where the construction of chairs was illustrated.

Told to Go to Work.

Under the direction of guards and convict tradesmen, the slayers were thrown on their own responsibility and told to go to work.

According to prison authorities, both boys seemed enthusiastic about their trade and were anxious to do their best. They indicated that work was a relief to them after months of complete idleness and the excitement of listening to the lawyers in their hearing pleading for life sentences and for death on the gallows.

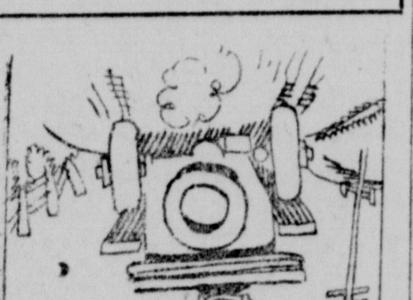

The exciting dash to the penitentiary from Chicago and the beginning of their sentences in the penitentiary, completely unnerved them and they seem well satisfied with the quiet and industrious air of the furniture shops.

Tomorrow being Sunday, the convicts will enjoy a day of rest and an opportunity to go to church. Neither Leopold nor Loeb have indicated whether they will attend services.

Monday morning again the boys will begin work that may last the remainder of their natural lives.

Fliers May Pass Over Dixon First of Coming Week

Left Washington on Final Lap of Long Journey in Dense Fog.

The United States Army Around-the-World aviator, who left Washington today on the final lap of their record-breaking journey—their flight across the United States to Santa Monica, Calif., from which city they started their momentous trip—will probably pass over Dixon the first of the week. The Telegraph will forecast the approximate hour of their flight over this section of the country as accurately as possible, providing such flight is not made before Tuesday.

BULLETIN.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, Sept. 13.—The army world fliers may arrive in Chicago, Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday, from Dayton, O., or officials of the Chicago Association of Commerce hoped to obtain definite information before the end of the day. An advance officer is expected to fly here tomorrow from Dayton, landing at the air mail field about 1:30 p. m., Sunday.

FIGHTING DENSE FOG.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Untiontown, Pa., Sept. 13.—Battling their way through a dense fog from Frostburg, Md., to Untiontown, Pa., the army world aviators successfully negotiated the perilous passage over the mountains of this region today. The fliers, heading due west passed over this city at 1:40 p. m., western standard time en route to Dayton, Ohio.

PROGRESS IS SLOW.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Confluence, Pa., Sept. 13.—The army round-the-world aviators en route to Dayton, Ohio, passed over this town at 1:18 o'clock this afternoon, eastern standard time. The fliers were forced out of their course by a heavy fog which shrouded the upper Cumberland Valley and the mountains of Pennsylvania.

LEAD CAPITAL AT 10:50.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, Sept. 13.—The army world fliers began the last stage of their journey today, hopping off from Bolling Field here for Dayton, Ohio, at 10:50 a. m., eastern standard time.

Brig. General Mitchell, assistant chief of the army air service, accompanied the fliers for a short distance in an escort machine. A photographe's plane also went along.

President Plans Several Addresses in Near Future

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, Sept. 13.—Several visitors were on the engagement list of President Coolidge today to wind up comparatively busy week of conferences with considerable time devoted to the study of government problems.

Next week the President expects to conclude a review of the tariff commission report on the sugar duty and to complete selection of the commission which he proposes to appoint to investigate agricultural problems.

Later he intends to prepare his speech before the Holy Name Society convention here a week from Sunday. Mr. Coolidge has virtually decided also to accept the invitation to speak in Philadelphia, Sept. 25.

Today's Market Report

Grain Markets in Set- Back During Half Day

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Influenced by bearish comment from the Kansas State Board of Agriculture, the grain markets underwent a decided setback in price today during the early dealings. The comment was to the effect that quotations of late for wheat and corn had fully discounted all known bullish conditions. In the wheat market as well as in the other pits, general selling took place as a result and substantial support which developed on the declines failed to act as an offset. Wheat opening prices, which ranged from 1c to 2c lower with Dec. 1.22@1.23 and May 1.28@1.29 were followed by something of a rally and then by another sag.

Subsequently, export demand was less active and indications pointed to enlargement of the United States visible supply total on Monday. The close was steady, but 1c to 2c net lower, Dec. 1.31@1.32 and May 1.38@1.39.

Corn showed even greater weakness than wheat. After opening 7c to 8c lower Dec. 1.12@1.13 to 1.15, the market recovered to only a moderate extent.

Later, the market was upheld by bullish crop reports from Illinois and by forecasts of light frost tonight over part of the corn belt. Prices closed unsettled 1c to 2c net lower, Dec. 1.14 to 1.14.

Ones started at 3c to 4c decline, Dec. 52@53. Later the market rallied a little.

Provisions were depressed with grain.

Carpenter Was Whipped by Paris Garage Worker

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Paris, Sept. 13.—Georges Carpenter immediately upon his recent return to France, lost another battle concerning which there was absolutely no publicity before hand and as to the result of which strenuous attempts have been made to preserve secrecy.

Georges' opponent was a garage attendant and the fight was a combination of Marquis of Queensbury rules and catch as can wrestling. The boxer entered the garage in a great hurry and ordered the attendant to take his machine to the second floor in the elevator. Such work not being a part of his particular work this free born French citizen refused.

Carpenter renewed his instructions somewhat sharply and when the attendant persisted in his refusal and catch as can wrestling, the boxer entered the garage in a great hurry and ordered the attendant to take his machine to the second floor in the elevator. Such work not being a part of his particular work this free born French citizen refused.

Carpenter is to retire from the ring after his fight with Gene Tunney, his manager told L'Auto, a sporting paper.

THE HAPPIEST TREE
An apple-tree must be a happy tree
When fall comes and the apples reden.

An apple-tree must be a happy tree
When the high grasses underneath it deaden.

The fall of heavy apples, red and round.

Sweet, juicy, sound.

And, (when the first soft snowflake swiftly flies),

All ready to be peeled for apple pies!

An apple-tree must be a happy tree
When after it has labored greatly,
First with its blossoms pink and white and free,

Then with the tiny globules prim and stately.

That grow and grow from green to red or gold.

Then, with the cold.

Call out to those who waited them.

"Come, eat!"

And give up gaily, all their hoarded sweet.

—By Mary Carolyn Davis.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Wash Day Dishes.

On fronting and cleaning days plan to have your main dish for dinner.

baked one so that it may be prepared in a short time and may cook while you are about your work.

Before pouring milk or cream from a bottle always wipe the edges of the top carefully.

Rub With Oil.

After you have washed the tiles on your grates or floor give them an extra rub with an old silk handkerchief moistened with linseed oil.

Bread for Sandwiches.

Bread for sandwiches should be twenty-four hours old and preferably baked in long square loaf since there is less waste this way.

Color of Beef.

When buying beef select that which is moderately fat with flesh that is a bright red color.

Women Are Not Easily Deceived

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 13.—Club women of Illinois will do all in their power to arouse sentiment against disloyalty so that there will be "no room in America for men and women who are attacking this nation under the cloak of pacifism." Mrs. George Thomas Palmer, president of the Illinois Federation of Woman's Clubs said in a statement made public today.

Mrs. Palmer's statement followed her address given on National Defense Day, in which she said that the Illinois Federation had gone on record as favoring National Defense Day and preparedness.

"So long as women have virile men for husbands and virile men for sons, they are not going to be hoodwinked by so-called peace propaganda, which most often is only a cloak for seditious doctrine," Mrs. Palmer said.

"I believe that any action which may help to counteract the insidious so-called pacifism which is broad in the land, which can help to awaken our loyalty and patriotism should be encouraged by every right thinking citizen. It seems to be that such a simple preparedness plan as was demonstrated all over the country, yesterday can help us to keep that wise middle ground which protects us from such militarism as Germany thrust upon the world and the cowardly pacifism of China. China believes in no central government and is a pacifist nation. The papers are full of the result of such an attitude in that country today."

"Personally I am getting awfully tired of having it thought that all women succumb to any propaganda, which includes the word 'peace,' no matter what kind of peace or how dis honorable that peace may be. Only the unthinking, the fanatic, can want such a thing."

Mrs. Palmer referred to cartoon published in the Daily Worker, printed in Chicago as an example of the "deadly designs of Red political movement that derides religion and would stamp out any restraint which imposes patriotic obligation."

"It is to such deadly poison as this," she said referring to the cartoon which caricatures the Christ, "that we have opened the doors of America and have permitted a free press and free speech."

Wedding at the Brooklyn Church

Missionary Society Meeting Thursday

The Brooklyn Township Lutheran church was the scene of a pretty wedding Wednesday, at 1:30 p. m., when Rev. W. A. Burzlaff pronounced the words that made the principals man and wife. The bride was Miss Cora M. Mehlbrech and the groom, Charles A. Mollen. The service, in which the double ring ceremony was used, was witnessed by a large number of relatives and friends of the couple.

Mrs. Mollen looked very pretty in a tan silk dress with hat to match, carrying a bridal bouquet. The couple were unattended. Mrs. B. Ogilvie, a friend of the bride, sang, "O Blessed House," during the course of the ceremony.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mehlbrech, residents of Brooklyn township. She is a young lady of many sterling traits of character and a favorite among her many friends.

The groom is a native of LaMouille and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mollen. During the time that he has lived in that community he has gained an enviable reputation as a thrifty and hard working citizen. He is a man who is held in high esteem by everyone who knows him.

Immediately following the ceremony the newlyweds departed on a honeymoon trip that will take them to different cities and points of interest in the state of Wisconsin. They will go to housekeeping on a farm near LaMouille upon their return from the northern trip. Their many friends are eagerly awaiting their return to shower them with congratulations and best wishes.

ENTERTAINED AT DINNER AT NEIGHBOUR HOME

Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Neighbour entertained friends at dinner. Out-of-town guests were John Carruthers and daughter, Mrs. Z. P. Ferguson and F. A. Carruthers and daughter, Miss Stella, all of Neoga, Ill. The Neoga friends returned to their homes the following day.

John Carruthers, at the age of 85, a Civil War veteran, makes the long auto trip of 250 or 275 miles, in a day's ride without apparent fatigue.

George Rutherford Weds Mrs. Hagerman

Mrs. Margretta Hagerman of Woosung, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pages of Pine Creek township, and George Stewart Rutherford of Chicago were married Wednesday, Sept. 10th, in Chicago.

The bride is well known in Dixon and has many friends here. The bride-groom's former home is in Canada and is moderately fat with flesh that is a bright red color.

Pickling season is now at hand and Mrs. Housewife is busy putting away her favorite pickles and preserves for the winter months.

So I have prepared a number of recipes which I feel will be of service during the season.

All of these recipes have been thoroughly tested and if followed closely will give good results.

GHERKINS

(Small, Unripe Cucumber Pickles.)

One-half peck (about 125) small cucumbers, 2 quarts boiling water, two cups salt, lump of alum size of a nutmeg, 1 gallon vinegar, 4 sticks cinnamon, 6 tablespoons sugar, 2 teaspoons smutard seed, 3 tablespoons whole cloves, 1 tablespoon celery seed.

Wash cucumbers and wipe dry. Put in a stone jar. Add horseradish root well washed and cut in quarter-inch slices. Put a layer of horse radish over each layer of cucumbers. Mix salt, mustard, sugar and vinegar and let stand until dry ingredients are dissolved. Pour over cucumbers. Continue to add cucumbers and horse radish until crock is full.

Cover top layer of cucumbers with seven or eight long pieces of horseradish root. Cover the whole with a thick layer of grape leaves washed and wiped dry. Put a big plate over the crock and let stand three days.

THE RIVER BANK.

Dixonites should give enthusiastic cooperation to the movement started in the city council to improve the south bank of Rock River on both sides of the Galena Avenue bridge. The park board is already doing splendid work on the north shore of the stream and the plan to fill and beautify the south bank is equally important and can be put to valuable, practical use. The scheme includes filling and building out along the south shore from the I. N. U. mill-race to Peoria Avenue. Because of the vast amount of rock which will be excavated in the building of the new hydro-electric plant, there is now an opportunity to get material for this filling work which may not occur again in decades. The excavated rock must be disposed of and it may as well be used in this highly useful manner.

The made ground which will result from the filling and building out of the river bank can be parked and beautified so as to transform the river bank from an unsightly place to a thing of beauty, and the parkway can also be utilized as a parking space for automobiles, thereby relieving the great congestion in the downtown streets and providing more space for the ever growing automobile traffic.

The program does not include the widening of River Street, and it is to be regretted that that could not be done, but there are obstacles that apparently will present it, at this time any way. The city authorities could not widen this street without an expense which they deem unwarranted, for the pavement is said to already occupy all of the street space owned by the city. The narrow point in the street which has been objected of the danger to the traffic which will come in over the paved road to Rockford when completed, is at the point where the street skirts the mill-race of the power company. The mill-race cuts a segment out of the street at this point. It has been suggested that the difficulty might be overcome by the placing of piers in the mill-race and bridging the road over the water at this point. Such a plan, though perhaps expensive, is entirely feasible and would, in our opinion, be a justified expense. River Street will carry a great and always increasing load of traffic after the new Black Hawk Trail pavement is completed. This scenic highway along the shores and under the bluffs of the beautiful Rock River will be one of the most famous drives in the middle west. The natural entrance to Dixon from that highway is River Street and the necessity of having this street full width and as free as possible from dangerous conditions is obvious.

SANE EMIGRATION.

We have heard much of immigration in these latter years. Here is something on the other side of the shield—about emigration. It comes from the country which is most discriminated against, if there is any real discrimination, in our present immigration law. And it comes from a man whose utterances have not always been regarded as temperate and sober. Premier Mussolini of Italy says, in a recent statement to American correspondents:

"The emigration policy pursued by the Italian government toward the United States, as toward other countries, aims to avoid sending abroad persons who do not correspond to the economic and social needs of the country of immigration. It believes that sending such persons harms the country which receives them, as well as that which sends them."

The former is damaged in its economy and the latter in its reputation."

If the Italian government will adhere to this principle, there will be no difficulty between it and America on the immigration problem. And the utterance is one that deserves to be heeded by various other countries which feel aggrieved by the immigration quotas to which they are restricted.

ARTERIAL HIGHWAYS.

Commissioner Charles Miller's experiment in boulevarding Galena Avenue as a through street, requiring all vehicles to come to a stop before entering or crossing that street, is a complete success, and we suggest that the program be carried out to its natural conclusion—the boulevarding of all main arteries of travel in Dixon. Considerable study should be given before the entire plan was adopted, for the matter could be easily overdone to a point where traffic was needlessly impeded, but there are a number of streets, such as River Street from Galena Avenue east, and Third Street, from Galena Avenue west where the danger of accident could be minimized by the erection of stop signs.

DIAMONDS.

Diamonds occasionally are found in glacial drift in our country. One as big as 17 karats was discovered in gravel while digging a well in Wisconsin.

These diamonds were brought down from somewhere in Canada, carried along in gravel accompanying glaciers of long ago. Geologists now are tracing the course of these glaciers. They expect to find the mother diamond mines up north.

"That's so, Cutie," said Mrs. Cottontail as she finished cutting off the edges of the carrot pie she was making and put it into the oven. "I almost forgot about it."

"And I haven't any present for him," said Cutie. "I can't go to his party without taking him a birthday present, can I?"

"No, that wouldn't do, Cutie," said his mother. "I'm going down street now to Nancy, Nick & company's store to get you some new clothes to start to school in next week."

"And while I'm on I can buy you a nice present for Charlie. I think something to wear would be nice don't you?"

"Yes, I s'pose so," said Cutie, but really he was thinking, "I guess Charlie would rather have a knife or a box of candy or a sailboat or something."

"Goodby, Cutie," she said in a few minutes. "I'll be home as soon as I can. I suppose I ought to take you along to get you fitted, but you'll have to stay at home and see that my pie doesn't burn. Goodby."

And away she went.

operating motor vehicles on various types of road. It has been established that when a road carrying 500 vehicles per day is surfaced with a high type pavement, an annual saving of approximately $6575 per mile will be effected. All of Illinois' trunk highways carry an average of at least 500 vehicles a day; many of them carry several times that number.

The present year will see about 1200 miles added to the state's paved road system. This year's construction alone, will afford a saving of approximately $8,000,000 each year for many years to come. If traffic on these roads should average 1000 vehicles per day—a figure which may reasonably be expected—the saving in one year will amount to nearly $16,000,000. In other words, the roads constructed this year will add to the wealth of the state between $8,000,000 and $16,000,000 annually. In comparison with such savings, interest charges for bonds to finance this road construction sink into insignificance.

VETERANS SEEM CERTAIN TO COP LEAGUE'S HONORS

Have Strangle Holds on Most of Titles in League Baseball.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—By the Associated Press—With the close of the major league race a trifle more than two weeks away, veterans, with years of service behind them, seem certain of capturing all of the honors of the 1924 season.

In the American league, Babe Ruth is without danger of losing the batting championship, as well as the home run title. The Babe, according to latest averages today, is hitting .355, thirty points ahead of Jimmie of Cleveland, his closest rival. It is startling to note, however, that Ruth made only five hits in his last five games, but two of them were homers, increased his home run total to forty-four.

The veteran Eddie Collins, captain of the Chicago White Sox, shining as a major league star for 19 years, will capture the base stealing honors. He is stolen 39 to date, while Rice of Washington is next in line with twenty-three.

The Detroit Tigers, possibly with the strain of keeping in the pennant fight removed, went in for some heavy hitting in recent games, and advanced from fifth to second place in club batting. To accomplish this, the Tigers made a gain of four points while other teams generally were dropping. Cleveland held the lead in team batting, but slipped out of the .300 class to .299. The Tigers are hitting .293.

In individual batting, Speaker of Cleveland and Collins of the White Sox exchanged places. Speaker going into fourth place with .347 while Collins is batting fifth with .346. Falk of the White Sox is third with .351.

Other leading batters: Brassler, Detroit .343; Cobb, Detroit .337; Boone, Boston .335; Rice, Washington .334; Goslin, Washington .334; Miller, Philadelphia .334; Hellmann, Detroit .333; Myatt, Cleveland .328.

Hornsky Back In Game
Rogers Hornsky, the National League's premier pitcher, expects to finish the season with an average well above the .400 mark. He returned to the game after being out for ten days due to an injured back, and in a week of action, dropped four points from his high mark, set the day he was injured. Hornsky's latest average is .428. As runner-up to Hornsky, Zack Wheat of Brooklyn passed Hazen Cuyler of the Pirates by a margin of ten points. Wheat is hitting .379, with Cuyler .369. Then comes Young of New York with .347.

Max Carey, Pittsburgh veteran, added four stolen bases to his record, bringing his string up to forty-two. Fournier of the Dodgers continues to remain high in home run hitting, leading with twenty-six.

With a spurge of hitting again the Boston pitchers set a new single game record for the season. The Giants pushed themselves into the .300 class as a hitting team, and are leading with a percentage of .302. The Cardinals are second with .292.

Other leading batters: Bressler, Cincinnati .341; Roush, Cincinnati .339; Fournier, Brooklyn .334; Kelly, New York .334; High, Brooklyn .326; Frisch, New York .325; Bottomley, St. Louis .320; Blades, St. Louis .320.

Fish Don't Bite When Wind Blows from East

Sterling.—The last few days have practically stopped fishing, or rather catching fish. The rainy period and the prevailing east wind have dulled the enthusiasm of the anglers and kept the fish from biting at the same time.

Deputy Game Warden Sam Cohen is authority for the statement that fish seldom bite here when the wind is in the east, though he can give no explanation of the reason why. He made a tour of the river bank one day this week to inspect fishing licenses and see if any questionable methods of fishing were in progress. He found quite a number of people patiently angling for "bites" along the shore, but only one of the

Eczema

At last a good
sleep!

OH! The joy of a peaceful, restful night. What a wonderful "up and going" feeling follows such a night of undisturbed slumber.

Oh! What tortures—what agony—what despair—goes with the nights where eczema and other skin diseases hold power and drive away rest and peaceful slumber. Under the cover of darkness like crafty beings of the underworld these eruptions work their most serious havoc.

S.S. is the established conqueror of these annoying skin diseases. S.S. drives these ever disturbing elements from your system—elements that carry in their wake—lack of energy—undermining health! You may try in vain to get rid of them by using salves, lotions, washes, all to no purpose. You can't do it that way—the seat of the trouble lies deeper—impure blood trying to throw off poisons through the tender skin.

S.S. purifies the blood. It aids Nature in creating new red-blood-cells by the million! Blood-cells that send new rich blood coursing through your system. Red blood that drives away eczema—drives away pimples, blackheads, boils and rheumatism, too. An increase in red-blood-cells means added strength, added vitality and renewed vigor. Because the medicinal ingredients of S.S. are purely vegetable, it may be taken with perfect safety. Start taking S.S. today and watch it root that annoying, skin destroying, health undermining army that holds your system in its grasp! Learn again what it means to enjoy peaceful, restful nights of slumber.

S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

PENNANT FEVER HITS BROOKLYN GIANTS WORRIED

Robins Within a Point of Lead; Both Races Are Very Close.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Brooklyn is suffering from a severe case of "pennantitis" attended by symptoms of "world's seriesitis," and a high baseball fever accompanied by a swelling of its percentage column which is worrying Doctor John J. McGraw, who is fighting hard to save the "city of churches" from repetition of the malady which was rampant in Flatbush back in the days of 1900, and again in 1916 and more recently in 1920.

The relative temperatures of the two teams today carried out in five figures, is: Giants .6043; Dodgers .60283. The DODGERS picked up ground yesterday by remaining idle while the Giants lost a 5-1 decision to the Cardinals.

The Pirates lapped up a 5-4 decision over the Braves while Chicago bumped off the Phillies 10-8.

Things were even quieter in Dan Johnson's traveling brigade of baseball performers. The Senators and the Yankees headed east to west to open up a flock of crucial series today against Chicago, Cleveland, St. Louis and Detroit. The Yankees make a three-day stand in Chicago while the Senators will wrestle for honors against the Detroit Tigers. This series means much to the Tigers and their pennant ambitions will be all wrapped up in this short series with Stanley Harris' pennant-blitten regiment of cavers.

But one game was placed on the record in the American League yesterday and that went to St. Louis 5-0 with Cleveland on the zero end. The eastern teams today all open virtually every game in which Washington's final invasions of the west, Detroit or New York will participate will be crucial contests with the percentage column wavering back and forth as the teams hold up or are crushed by the waves of defeat or victory.

American Tennis Stars Hope for Clean Sweep

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Philadelphia, Sept. 14.—Having won three consecutive matches in the challenge round of the Davis cup tennis competition at the Germantown Cricket Club, thereby assuring the retention of the famous trophy in the United States for another year, the American players today meet their Australian opponents in the two remaining singles contests and hope to make a clean sweep of the series.

Followers of the game manifested great interest, particularly in the meeting of Vincent Richards and Gerald L. Patterson. William T. Tilden will meet Pat O'Hara Wood in the other contest. O'Hara Wood was decisively defeated Thursday by Richards and the experts had little doubt of Tilden's ability to win.

Nowadays a checking account is just as much a necessity and convenience as the farmer's two or three bottom plow.

You needn't worry about making change if you pay your bills by check. Just write the check for the exact amount.

With an envelope and a two-cent stamp you can pay your bills in another town without leaving home.

The man who pays his bills by check always gets a receipt, never has to worry about losing his money or having it stolen, to say nothing of the convenience.

Come in and let us tell you how simple it is to open a checking account at this bank. We will gladly tell you of the convenience in

He stood waiting for his visitor to speak and disclose herself. She on her side continued immovable until Asad's footsteps had faded in the distance. Then with a boldness entirely characteristic, with the recklessness that betrayed her European origin intolerant of the Moslem restraint imposed upon her sex, she did what no True-believing woman would have done. She tossed back that long, black veil and disclosed the pale countenance and languorous eyes of Fenziyah.

"Not for thirty thousand," answered he. "She is mine, and I'll not relinquish her. So since I have proclaimed my mind, and since to tarry here is fraught with peril for us both, I beg thee to depart."

There fell a little pause, and neither of them noticed the alert interest stamped upon the white face of Rosamund. Neither of them suspected her knowledge of French which enabled her to follow most of what was said in the language they employed.

Fenziyah drew close to him.

"Thou'll not relinquish her, eh?" she asked, and he was sure she sneered. "Be not so confident. Thou'll be forced to it, my friend—if not to me, why, then, to Asad. He is coming for her, himself, in person."

"Asad?" he cried, startled now. "Asad-ed-Din," she answered, and upon that resumed her pleading. "Come, then! It were surely better to make a good bargain with me than a bad one with the Bashas."

He shook his head and planted his feet squarely.

"I intend to make no bargain with either of you. This slave is not for sale."

"Shalt thou dare resist Asad? I tell thee he will take her whether she be for sale or not."

"I see," he said, his eyes narrowing. "And the fear of this, then, is the source of thy whim to acquire her for thyself. Thou art not subtle, O Fenziyah. The consciousness that thine own charms are fading sets thee trembling lest so much loveliness should entirely cast thee from thy lord's regard, eh?"

If he could not see her face, and study there the effect of that thrust of his, at least he observed the quiver that ran through her muffled figure, he caught the note of anger that thrashed in her reply—

"And if that were so, what is to thee?"

"It may be much or little," he replied.

"Indeed, it should be much," she answered quickly, breathlessly. "Have I not ever been thy friend? Have I not even urged thy valor on my lord's notice and wrought like a true friend for thine advancement, Sakre-el-Bahr?"

He laughed outright.

"Laugh as thou will, but it is true," she insisted. "Lose me and the most valuable ally is lost. For look, Sakre-el-Bahr, it is what would befall if another came to fill thy place, another who might poison Asad's mind with lies against thee—for surely she cannot love thee, this Frankish girl whom thou hast torn from her home!"

"Be not concerned for that," he answered lightly. "This slave of mine shall never usurp thy place beside Asad."

"O fool, Asad will take her whether she be for sale or not."

"If he can take her from me, the more easily can he take her from thee. No doubt thou hast considered that, and in some dark Sicilian way considered too how to provide against it. But the cost—hast thou thought that? What will Asad say to thee when he learns how thou hast thwarted him?"

"What do I care for that?" she cried in sudden fury.

"At last he had drawn her, pumped her dry as he imagined. Indeed, indeed, he thought, he had been right to say she was not subtle. He had been a fool to have permitted himself to be intrigued by so shallow, so obvious a purpose.

"Depart in peace, O Fenziyah," he said. "I yield her to none."

His tone was final, and her answer seemed to accept at last his determination. Yet she was very quick with that answer, so quick that he might have suspected it to be preconceived.

"Then it is surely thine intent to wed her?" No voice could have been more innocent and guileless than hers now.

"If so," she went on, "it were best done quickly, for marriage is the only barrier Asad will not overthrow. He is devout, and out of his deep reverence for the Prophet's law he would be sure to respect such a bond as that. But be very sure that he will respect nothing short of it."

"And thy purpose would be equally well served, eh?" he questioned her, sly in his turn.

"Equally," she admitted.

"Say 'better,' Fenziyah," he rejoined. "I said thou art not subtle. By the Koran, I lied. Thou art subtle as the serpent. Yet I see whether thou art gilding. Were I to be guided by thine advice a two-fold purpose would be served. First, I should place her beyond Asad's reach, and second, I should be embroiled with him for having done so. What could more completely satisfy thy wishes?"

"In a word—no," he answered her.

"Thou'lt not? Not for three thousand philiips?" Her voice was charged with surprise, and he wondered was it real or assumed.

mine, and I can not suffer to be thwarted in my whims. To gratify this one I will pay three thousand philiips."

He looked at her and wondered what devils might be stirring in her mind, what evil purpose she desired to serve.

"Thou'lt pay three thousand philiips?" he said slowly. Then bluntly asked her—

"Why?"

"To gratify a whim, to please a fancy."

"What is the nature of this costly whim?" he insisted.

"The desire to possess her for my own," she answered evasively.

"And this desire to possess her, whence is it sprung?" he returned, as patient as he was relentless.

"You ask too many questions," she exclaimed with a flash of anger. He shrugged and smiled.

"You answer too few."

"In a word, Oliver-Rets," said she, "will sell her for three thousand philiips?"

"In a word—no," he answered her.

So you see, dear Ruth, Jack and I are just about where we were when I came home to mother's.

He is absurdly jealous of Karl Whitney. I wonder why it is that a man is always more or less jealous of the man his wife refuses. Cannot he understand that she has settled the question once for all which man she cares for enough to marry by choosing him?

At that moment, when my mother came in, it just seemed to me as though I could not go on with it all. Ruth, why do we women have to keep fighting, fighting, to keep our husbands' love? Why do we have to gather them by word and deed all the time? Why is it the magazines are always telling women what they should do to keep their husbands still loving them. Why don't they sometimes tell a man what he should do to keep his wife's love? Why don't they make him understand that it is just as hard for a woman as a man to keep on loving without some encouragement?

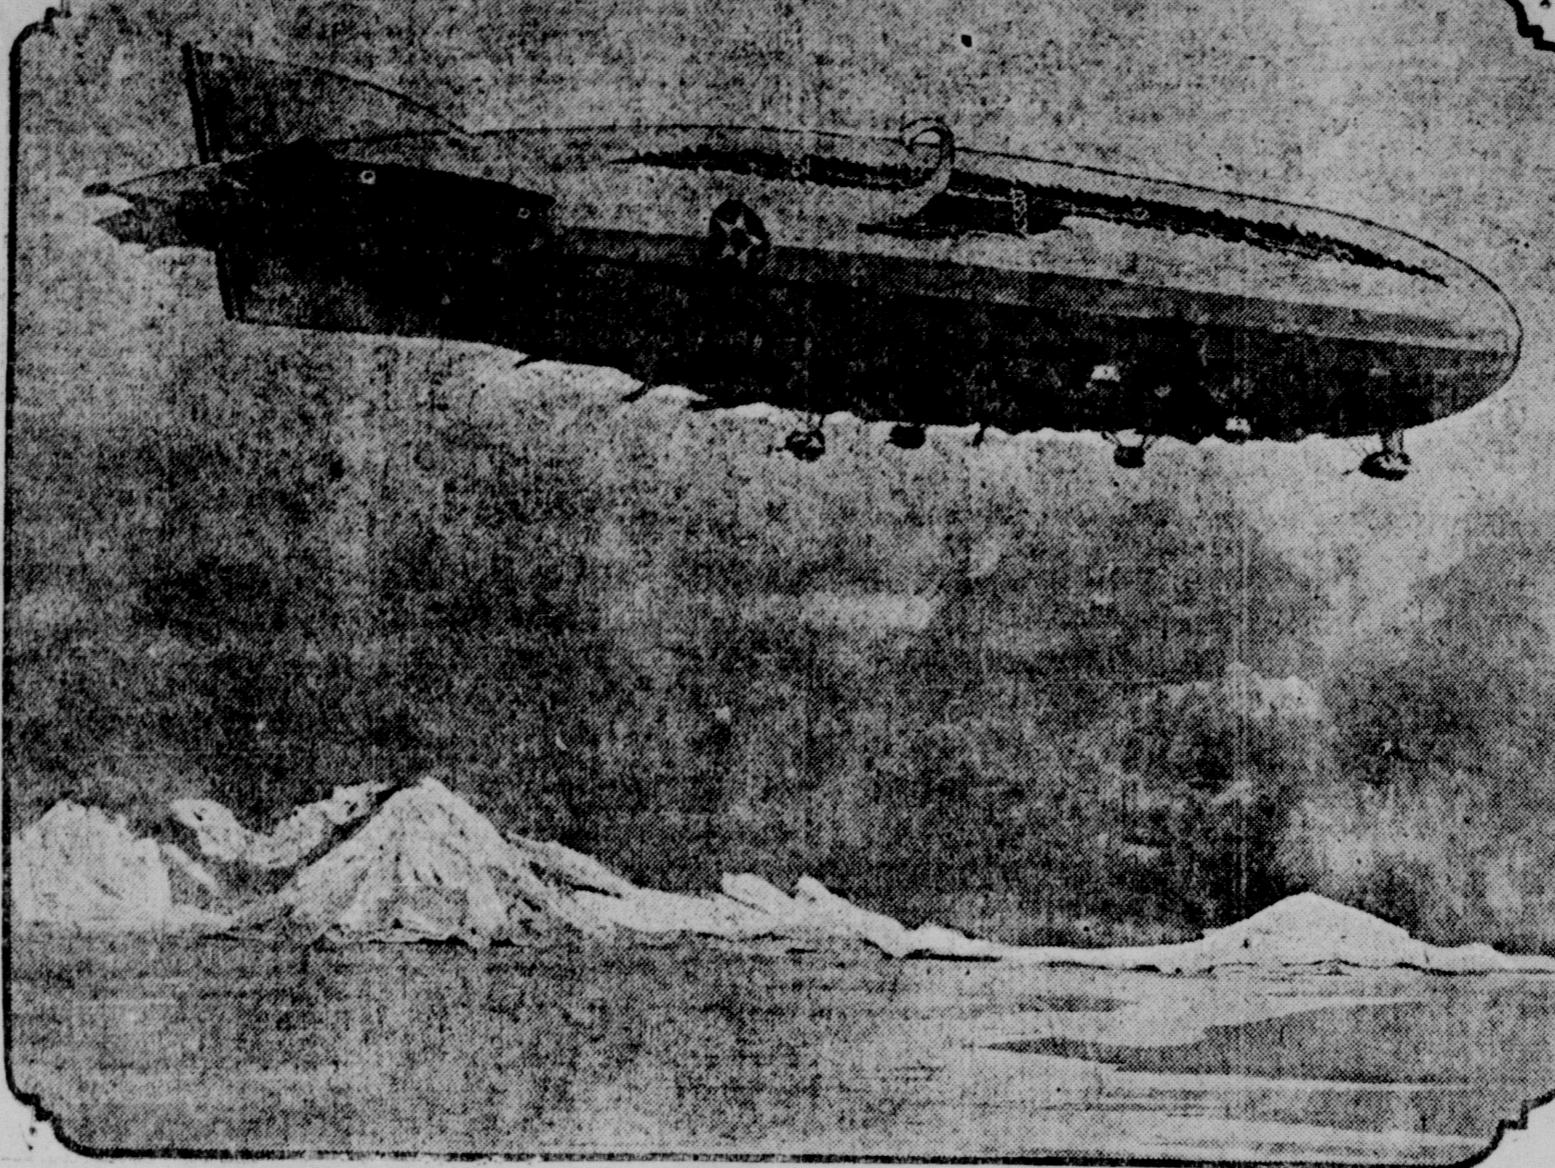

I turned to my mother, and for the life of me I could not keep the tears back.

"What is it, dear, what is it?" she said.

"Mother, I'm going to have a baby."

Washington—At the north pole and therabouts the summer temperature on one side of a man's face may be up to 90 and on the other side below freezing.

One of his cheeks may be wet with perspiration while icicles gather in his beard on the other one.

The sunny side of his nose may burn until it blisters, at the same time the shady side is being frost bitten.

Ditto at the south pole.

This is no joke or exaggeration. It's mentioned in the records of many explorers.

The summer sun's rays are most intense at and around both poles. But out of the sun—in shady places the cold is equally intense.

Flight Was Postponed.

This fact, though known, never was appreciated at its full value until the idea was advanced of sending the navy dirigible Shenandoah on a flight across the north pole.

Naval officers liked this suggestion. The flight undoubtedly would have been undertaken—and in all probability that would have been the last of the Shenandoah—if somebody had not happened to raise the point of the contraction of the airship's framework that might fairly be expected in the cold of the arctic regions.

That's why the trip hasn't been undertaken yet.

Experts Studying It.

It hasn't been abandoned, however. Experts are calculating now just what structural modifications must be made in the vessel's frame work to enable it to withstand the peculiar climatic conditions it must experience. They are experimenting with various sorts of material for a dependable envelope.

Enthusiasts are hopeful that within a few years, at least semi-annual flights across the north pole will be made for observation purposes.

The next thing, hints the Navy Department, will be establishment of a similar system of flights across the south pole.

This will be more difficult than the northern flight, both because the distance from base to base will be much greater and because the flying will have to be considerably higher, due to the altitude of parts of the antarctic continent.

The undersigned, having been appointed executrix of the estate of Frank Nagle, late of the County of Lee and Stanton, Illinois, deceased, hereby give notice that she will appear before the County Court of Lee County, at the Courthouse, in Dixon, at the November term next, at which time all persons having claims against said estate are notified and requested to attend for the purpose of having the same adjusted. All persons indebted to said estate are requested to make immediate payment to the undersigned.

Dated this 5th day of September, A. D. 1924.
MRS. ANNA NAGLE,
Executive.
Lloyd J. Seriven, Attorney.
Sept 6 1924

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Sealed proposals addressed to the Board of Local Improvements of the City of Dixon, Illinois, and endorsed "Proposals for the furnishing of the labor and material for and the construction of concrete paving and curbing placed on Assembly Place from the north line of Chamberlain street to the south line of Assembly Place and for the construction of concrete pavement with earth shoulders on Lee Morgan street from Assembly Place to the east line of Jefferson street, in the City of Dixon, Illinois, as provided for in Local Improvement Ordinance No. 218, Series of 1924, of said City of Dixon," will be received by the Board of Local Improvements of said City of Dixon at 8:30 P. M. on the 23rd day of September, A. D. 1924, and will be publicly opened by the Mayor of said City, who is also President of said Board, at a meeting of said board to be held in the Council Chamber in the City Hall in said City of Dixon at said hour of 8:30 o'clock on the 23rd day of September, A. D. 1924.

Said bids shall be opened by the President of the Board of Local Improvements in the presence of all officers of said board and shall remain on file in the president's office and be open for public inspection for at least 48 hours before an award of said contract is made to any competitive bidders. After the expiration of said 48 hours as above stated, said board shall meet and determine the most advantageous bid for the city and publicly declare the same.

The work for which said tenders are invited is for the construction of 900 cu. yds. of excavation; 2100 sq. yds. of concrete paving, 7" thick, 1-2-3/4" mix with 3/8" x 8" prepared transverse joint fillers not to exceed 36' apart; 4" integral curbs. Pavement to be built in two strips with 10' space between; 2110 sq. yds. of concrete paving, 13" thick, 6" thick at edges, 1-2-3/4" mix, with concealed metal joint at crown and with one 3/8" diameter smooth bar in each edge; 1072 sq. yds. of 7" cinder pavers; 1380 sq. yds. of earth shoulders dressed; 75 lin. ft. of concrete headers; 47 lin. ft. of combined concrete curb and gutter 6" x 12" curb and 6 1/2" x 24" gutter; 275 sq. ft. of 4" one course cement sidewalk; 4 catch-basins adjusted to grade; 4 manholes tops adjusted to grade; complete and in place as provided for in Local Improvement Ordinance No. 218, Series of 1924.

Each bid for the improvement must be accompanied by a certified check or cash for an amount not less than ten per cent of the aggregate of such proposals. All certified checks must be drawn on some responsible bank and payable to the order of the said president of said board, in his official capacity. No bids will be considered unless accompanied by such certified check or cash.

Said cash or certified check will be held by said board until all bids have been canvassed and the contract has been awarded and signed. The return of such check or cash to the successful bidder being conditioned upon his appearance within two days after having been notified of the award, having been made to him or them accompanied by his or their bondsmen and executing a contract with said board for the completion of the work so awarded and giving a bond satisfactory to the Board of Local Improvements of said City of Dixon in sum equal to one-third of the amount of such bid, with sureties to be approved by the President of said Board of said City, which bond shall provide that the contractor shall well and faithfully perform and ex-

The Well-Dressed Man
By BEAUNASH
Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

Wing And Bow

Somebody has observed that style is from the chin up. There is little underneath and none below the waist. Certain it is that dressing a man's neck is an all-important attribute of smart appearance. If you don't believe it, just remove your collar and cravat and look in the glass. The reflection that gazes back is hardly a prepossessing one, no matter how classic or Napoleonic your features may be. Few men take the time and trouble to study collars with reference to the cast and character of the wearer's face. Yet, the mere change from one shape to another may, almost magically, transform one's appearance and mark the difference between what's becoming and what's not.

During the last two years the wing and bow tie have regained their old-time place in the wardrobe of The Well-Dressed Man. A little more formal than the turn-down collar and four-in-hand scarf, the wing and bow are not intended for every-day wear, but rather for an agreeable change-off from the more conventional style. They look best on the high, lean face, conveying the impression of broadening it. Contrariwise, the round, full face needs the longer lines that the four-in-hand scarf gives.

The two smart collars sketched are of the same general type, but differ in the size and shape of the wings. The top one is widely spaced in front and has bold tabs set at an angle. The second shape meets more closely, with narrow tabs not so slanting. These distinctions may seem like splitting hairs, recalling the familiar jingle, "Strange all this difference should be 'twix Tweedledum and Tweedledee." However, style in collars lies just such minute details, recalling another aphorism, "Trifles make up perfection, but perfection is no trifle." Choose the collar that is most flattering to your face.

Bow-knot ties which should always be worn with wing, not turn-down, collars come in very bright stripes and figured patterns of which two are illustrated. These ties may have square, pointed or round tips. They may be the batwing, the butterfly, the modified batwing or the drooping-end bow either under or over the collar wings, as preferred.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Robert Foran, newspaper correspondent, accompanied the Theodore Roosevelt expedition to Africa in 1909. They were at Mombasa, the "gateway of British East Africa," on the "Admiral," a German steamer. With Colonel Roosevelt are his son, Kermit, three scientific assistants, members of his staff—Major Edgar A. Mearns, Edmund Heller and J. Allen Loring.

The railroad journey to the first camp of the Roosevelt expedition on the game-crowded Kapiti Plains—288 miles from the coast—is begun. Using the co-wheeler of the train as a wheelbarrow platform, the party gets its first view of the beautiful scenery of the African interior. Roosevelt is enthusiastic in these early hours of the trip. The party reaches Simba Station—a famous railroad depot.

"Jambo, Bwana Kingi ya Amerika!"

No sooner had the train come to a halt beside the neat corrugated iron buildings that formed the railroad depot at Simba, than an interested group gathered about Roosevelt and Sekou.

ANTENNAE MUST BE PREPARED TO STAND A WINTER

Radio Fans Should Examine Outdoor Pick-up at Once.

Chicago—With the advent of winter, the fan has been urged by radio experts "to examine thoroughly his outdoor antennae and place it in a condition that will withstand the rigors of the cold season. If the "pick up" system is not up to the highest standard, they point out, it will be a big factor in marring reception at the time of the year when listening to the faraway transmitter is commonplace.

The entire layout, the experts add, should be gone over and any defects eliminated; the insulators should be cleaned of accumulated dust and smoke, the supports strengthened and if need be, the wire replaced with new. The lead-in also should be carefully examined and strengthened if it has developed weak spots.

"Proper aerial construction," the experts said, "often is neglected by the amateur, resulting many times in very poor reception. As much care should be used in building an antenna as in building the receiving set."

Sometimes the amateur is unable to erect the best type of receiving aerial—a single wire 100 feet long—because of a lack of space. A good substitute may be provided with a horizontal loop, which is nondirectional and is a real competitor of the single wire. The loop is made of a continuous wire, so placed as to form a large rectangle, whose long sides are from 50 to 70 feet long and whose ends are from 20 to 30 feet long. The ends of the wire should be soldered together. The lead-in may be tapped on at the most convenient spot, its location making no difference in the reception from any direction. The higher the aerial is placed above surrounding objects the louder will be the signal.

"This type of antenna as well as all other receiving aerials should be provided with a lightening arrester to comply with the rules of the National Board of Fire Insurance Underwriters."

Thousands of Ducks are Reported Near Fulton

Thousands of wild ducks of every variety—mallards, pintails, teal, spoon bills, widgeons and wood ducks—have attracted large crowds to Goose Lake, north of Fulton. The ducks are very tame and people driving along the highway stop to look at them. They do not fly although the cars come within gunshot of them.

A number of nimrods have already built blinds along the lake expecting to bag a lot of the ducks when the season opens the 16th. Game Warden Menshal has been watching the lake to see that there is no shooting before the opening of the season.

9 Exclusive Features

These Points Make the Maytag Gyrafoam Washer Stand Above All Others

1. It is made entirely of metal, with a cast aluminum tub, which cannot warp, rust, rot, swell, split or corrode.
2. It is not a dolly, cylinder, vacuum or oscillator; the action of the water is produced by a startling new principle, which actually washes faster and cleaner than by any other principle.
3. It has a metal frame wringer of low design which makes it easy to reach over; wrings backward or forward; adjustable; swinging to five positions, and can be lifted from the machine if so desired; automatic drain plate; positive tension release, which entirely separates the 12-inch wringer rolls.
4. The lid is free from the mechanical contraptions of any kind, which allows the operator to open the machine while it is in operation and inspect the clothes as they are being washed.
5. The model $2 machine has a three-quarter Maytag Multi-Motor built in the machine.
6. The machine can be adjusted to any height; and can be moved very easily on account of the light weight.
7. It has a worm gear drive, the same as 95% of the large heavy duty trucks, which insures plenty of power and smooth operation; all gears run in a bath of oil; less gearing on the Gyrafoam machine than any other washer on the market.
8. Will wash faster, cleaner, and more efficiently than any other machine, due to the gyrorator which is in the bottom of the tub.
9. Behind it is the largest washing machine factory in the world, and a company of 30 years of successful manufacturing experience.
